Book Reading & Reflection

Research proves that reading books stimulates a complex network of signals and circuits in the brain, improves concentration and creates new synapses within the brain that strengthens the old ones. Building the habit of reading among student teachers helps them to improve the ability to empathize, improve communication skills and also provide them with valuable life lessons. Thus, the programs offered by the college provide scope for Book Reading & writing Reflections

Student teachers (B.Ed) thoroughly read through the subject textbooks and write a review to understand the aims & objectives, content and material provided in the textbook. A comprehensive understanding of the textbook enables them to prepare appropriate lesson plans to teach Students of B.Ed write review on books (Literary Non-Literary) as part of reading skill enhancement & reflective & expository reading activities. ### ❖ National Education Policy :

On the 12th –January -2020, Guru Nanak College of Education in Bidar organized a comprehensive programme to discuss the New Education Policy (NEP) with its students and staff. The objective of the programme was to familiarize the college community with the key aspects of the NEP and its implications for the future of education in India.

The NEP programme was structured as a full-day event comprising expert talks, interactive sessions, and group discussions. The focus was on understanding the core principles of the policy, its impact on teaching and learning, and the roles and responsibilities of educators and students in implementing the new framework.

4. Locational knowledge and Resources

Locational knowledge typically refers to understanding geographical locations, landmarks, and the spatial relationships between them. It involves knowing where places are situated relative to each other, the routes to get there, and often includes an awareness of local resources available in those locations. Resources can vary widely depending on the context:

Natural Resources: These include minerals, water sources, forests, and other materials that occur naturally and are utilized for various purposes such as agriculture, industry, or energy production.

5. Beti bachao, Beti padhao

"Beti bachao, beti padhao" is a popular slogan in India that translates to "Save daughters, educate daughters." It reflects the importance of protecting and nurturing girls, ensuring they receive education and opportunities equal to boys.

This initiative aims to address issues such as female foeticide, gender inequality, and lack of education among girls. It emphasizes the value of girls in society and advocates for their empowerment through education and equal opportunities.

* Concept of organizational climate :->

Concept of organization

Human beings have always in organized groups. Initially group activities were simple like gathering food migrating or defending the security of the group. The outcome of this group efforts was mainly that it gave people a chance to pool their and efforts for attaining desired goals such as building and protecting their communities. The group also gives it a distinct identity later on tasks that they were instead of doing every task which was required for survival and progress. This sort of group activity requires co-operation without which members may work at cross purposes and thus miss the benefits of association. To achieve this co-operation and thus miss the benefits of association to achieve this relationship had to be established. This type of a system of group relationship built on co-operation is basically the meaning of an organization in industry and organization can be seen in industry. An organization can be seen as two or more people.

4 concept of climate

Organizations differ in many respects - their goals, ethnic composition of their population etc. yet one can sense or feel the individuality of an organization. Sometimes this individuality is labelled as the atmosphere of the organization, environment, personality of the organization or organizations climate. This feeling which enables us to know that one organization differs from that of another. If we observe the behaviour of people in an organization we get proof of this.

Davikaram

* concept of organizational climate :->

Organization climate is a term that was probably first used by Cornell a decade. He used the term to denote a delicate blending of interpretations or perceptions by persons in the organization of their jobs or roles in relationship to others and their interpretation of the others in the organization. He interpreted organization in the sense of a formal structure. The term organizational climate has been defined in the different ways by different writers.

PRINCIPAL

Argyris [1957] used the term Personality for organizational climate while some others referred the terms as a general flow of behaviour and feeling and felt the organizational climate to be the interaction between environmental and personal variables of members of a group or groups which operate in an namely culture structure leadership behaviour and Psychological Need of the the organization.

We can conclude from the above the organizational climate can be discussed in terms of how it is perceived or felt by members the ~~organization~~ organization members.

* Parameters of organizational climate of school.

* Dimensions of school climate →

School climate is a multi-dimensional concept. It helps us to understand how schools differ in their climate what causes these variations and how these underlying influences affect school effectiveness. ~~certain adjectives~~ Have been used which describe different dimensions of the climate. Hattie and Coft identified eight dimensions of school climate.

The four characteristics of these dimensions need to be understood.

1) They are conceived as Presented in Operational terms.

2) They comprise two categories of behaviours.

a) group i.e. teachers' behaviour and

b) leaders i.e. Principals' behaviour.

3) In case of each set of four behaviours two are negative and two are positive. The variations in the climate arise due to the complex web of interacting - - - - -

The Headmaster of the Principal is the formal head of the school organization and is the leader of the school community which is made up of Pupils.

teachers headmaster, clerical and ~~classroom~~ staff

* Teacher Behaviour (Group characteristics)

1) Disengagement refers to a teachers the tendency to be Not with it. It describes a group which is going through motions a group that is Not in gear with respect to the task at hand - - - - -

In short this focuses on the teachers behaviours in a tasks oriented situation

2) Hindrance refers to the teachers feeling that the Principal burdens them with routine duties, committee demands and other requirements which they feel are unnecessary work - They feel that the Principal is hindering rather than helping their legitimate work.

Gurunank College of Education
BIDAR 585403

3) ESPirit refers to morale of teachers a feeling that their social needs are being satisfied and that they are at the same time enjoying a sense of accomplishment.

4) Intimacy refers to a teachers enjoyment of friendly social relations with each other. this dimension describe a social need satisfaction which is not necessary associated with task accomplishment.

In brief all the eight dimensions are divided into categories. four referring to teachers behaviours and four to principals behaviours.

Conclusion ⇒

Organizational climate and culture are important to school welfare administration because they provide the critical links between organizational characteristics and service outcomes.
